Tina Hie was one of 12 grade five students in Ontario to receive an honorary mention in a fire safety poster competition sponsored by the Ontario Association of Fire Chiefs. Tina, a student at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, was presented with a certificate, letter of commendation and a cheque for $25 for her efforts by Minden Fire Chief Deac Jackson. Tina's art teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Thayer, was also on hand for the presentation.

BIA rejects one way scheme

A plan that would have changed traffic patterns through the core area of Minden has been rejected by members of the Business Improvement Area. A sparse turnout of members listened to the plan Tuesday evening as it was presented by the board of directors.

According to the proposal, traffic would have been channeled in a one way direction, westerly on the Main Street. Traffic travelling east would be funneled past the post office and along Milne Street to emerge at the corner by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Proponents of the plan noted that introducing one way traffic would allow angle parking along one side of the Main Street and result in more parking spaces in the core area. The plan would also make a dramatic change to the downtown area, "giving the BIA a high visibility" while being relatively inexpensive and easy to implement.

Those opposed to the idea noted that one way streets tend to create barriers rather than ease traffic flow and that people could object to the "big city" solution in a small community.

Several options were proposed, including reversing the one way flow and closing a number of the smaller streets to through traffic in an effort to ease congestion. In the end, however, a vote on the one way scheme showed a majority to be opposed, and the suggestion was defeated.

The group did agree however that the council should be pressed to enforce the property standards by-law in the core area especially in the walk-throughs and the backs of commercial buildings. This by-law sets minimum standards for the exterior of buildings in the municipality.

Member resigns

The meeting was also told that board member Ron Wrightman has resigned. He cited health and business pressures. The members agreed to have the township council poll those members who signed the negative petition to see if anyone else was willing to serve on the board.

The meeting was held at the Municipal Office.

Minister plans to review provincial shoreline policy

The provincial government hopes to streamline the steps necessary before a lakefront property owner can purchase the abutting 66 foot shore allowance. The promise to look at the matter was made May 4 in the provincial Legislature by the Minister of Housing Claude Bennett.

The minister was responding to a question raised by Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins. Citing a letter tabled at the April meeting of Haliburton County Council, from the former Ontario Premier Leslie Frost, Eakins asked what steps the government intended to take to simplify the process.

The letter had been sent by the former Premier to Clayton Hodgson, a former MP for this riding. Dated in 1950, the letter stated quite clearly that the shoreline allowance was the property of the municipalities and that they could dispose of them as they saw fit. Mr. Frost rejected any idea of the province closing the allowances en masse, noting that they had been in place over 90 years and the blanket closing would result in chaos.

However, Frost states, "The facts are that the provincial government really has nothing to do with this matter. When Haliburton County and other areas were surveyed some 90 years ago, a reservation of 66 feet was left around each lake and all navigable waters for road purposes. When the municipalities were organized at a subsequent date, all of the road allowances in each municipality were given to the municipality... These road allowances do not belong to the province... No one can deal with this problem but the municipalities themselves," the letter states.

Eakins told the Legislature that the letter indicates the provincial position on the shoreline allowance closings, and to his knowledge that position had never been altered in legislation. Eakins asked Bennett, "In view of this opinion, does the minister not feel the Ministry of Housing is exceeding its authority by placing too much red tape before the municipalities to convey these road allowances?"

Bennett responded by noting that he had been aware of these problems for some time. He also admitted that the procedure outlined in a pamphlet issued by the Ministry of Housing earlier this year was, "a rather complicated procedure."

"Will the minister be taking steps to remove some of the great expense and the great length of time which municipalities and individuals must go to in order to convey these lots?" Eakins asked. The MPP noted the present procedure involved lengthy delays and expense. He also noted the present procedure exceeds what is asked for in section 443 of the Municipal Act.

Bennett responded, "I trust that our review with the municipalities and the associations of municipalities relating to this particular matter will give us the opportunity to try and streamline the plan so it does not incur quite the same cost to municipalities and individuals." The minister continued, "But at the same time, to try and give certain assurances to taxpayers and property owners adjacent to the right-of-way that their privileges and their rights are not going to be abused."

The lengthy review and costly procedures have been a concern of municipalities and cottage associations as well as the individual property owners. While some have been willing to proceed with the closings, no matter what the expense, others have been waiting for a clarification of policy from the provincial government. That policy, in the form of a pamphlet issued this spring, may be further muddled by these latest comments from the Minister of Housing.

Man drowns near Dorset

A 23-year-old Welland man drowned in Hollow River near Dorset on Sunday after he was reported missing by friends.

His companions had last seen Timothy Rocco about 2 a.m. at Hollow Valley Lodge, a mile east of Dorset.

Several people reported his car was submerged in approximately eight feet of water in Hollow River, directly behind the lodge.

OPP divers found Rocco about 50 feet down river early Monday morning.

Rocco was a non-swimmer and was certified legally blind.

Police say they do not know why he was in the car which was owned by his girlfriend.

Rocco's eyesight was adequate for daytime but his night vision would have been limited, police report.

The coroner in the case was Dr. Blair Pierce and investigating officers were Constable Al Bibby and Corporal Peter Alexander.

Author traces the history of a house

A history of a home can be fascinating.

A collection of historic homes in Ontario has been compiled by artist and writer in a new book, Under This Roof.

Author, Terry Boyle, was at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton Saturday night to give a brief talk on his book. Also on display were the sketches of the homes.

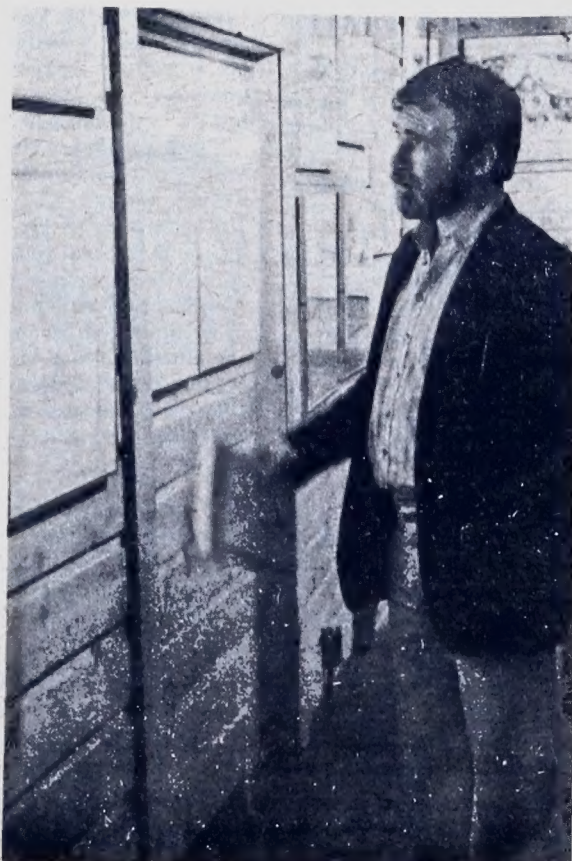

The book covers 60 homes in southern Ontario. Boyle said three more books will each cover eastern, western and northern Ontario.

Thirty artists participated in the sketches of the homes and Boyle said it took him about a year and a half to do the research on the homes.

Each sketch is accompanied by the story of the owners of the home, events in the lives of the families and a brief description of the physical features of each home.

Boyle said some of the homes do not look as they do in the sketch either because of Forest management plan approved for park

A Forest Management Plan for Algonquin Provincial Park, has been approved, Ontario Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope announced. This plan, prepared by the Algonquin Forestry Authority, outlines the forest management practices and operational details for implementation of the policies outlined in the 1974 Master Plan for Algonquin Park.

The two major amendments to the proposed plan are that the crossings on the Crow and Nipissing Rivers will not proceed, and the Authority is to further pursue the feasibility of locating product-sorting and distribution yards outside the Park.

In addition, Mr. Auld said, the Provincial Park Council's recommendation for expansion of the wilderness zone in the Park over that approved in the 1974 Master Plan for the Park, cannot be adopted. The recommendation for expansion was made in connection with the first five-year review of the Master Plan.

"We have examined the feasibility of reducing the utilization zone from which timber may be harvested to increase the wilderness zone, but this is not possible without reducing the current quality and supply of timber products to sustain dependent industries at present levels", the Minister said.

"The Algonquin Forest Authority is already faced with a shortfall of primary wood products from the interim allocation of 1875 with the present land base", Mr. Auld said. "Because alternate sources of wood supply do not exist, I have concluded that an expansion of the wilderness zone is not possible."

The Minister said he has communicated his decision by letter to Dr. Vidar Nordin, chairman of the Algonquin Forest Authority, and Dr. George Priddle, chairman of the Provincial Parks Council.

renovations or because the home is no longer standing.

In the latter case, reproductions were made from photographs or other sketches.

Boyle began the project as a result of his interest in the combination of art and literature.

"The future of Canadian literature is going to involve art. We haven't looked at literature and art as an art form," he said.

Boyle has written three other books including one dealing with early Canadian life.

Born in Hamilton, he has a journalism diploma from Durham College and now lives in Whitby and is a poetry instructor.

Under This Roof deals with a wide variety of homes like Creek Cottage in Ayr which was supposedly haunted by the mistress of Robert Burns searching for love letters hidden in the house.

Coleman House in Burlington, also known as "Gingerbread House," Conant Homestead in Oshawa where the owner buried his gold in an iron kettle on a nearby river bank, The Whitehouse in Brighton and the melodious-sounding Inverlynn House in Whitby are also featured.

Copies of Boyle's book are available at the Gallery.

Police ready for concert

Minden police say they will be on guard but are not planning any special precautions during a concert by the British rock group, The Monks, this Sunday at the Minden Arena.

Sergeant Bill Bailey says, as usual, there will be a special "shadow security" of about 20 officers from Toronto on hand at the door to check for alcohol and drugs.

However, Bailey cautions, "We don't want to create a situation. If there's a problem, we'll send more men."

Grant awarded

The Highlands Concert series, sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, is the recipient of a grant from the Ontario Arts Council. The local group received $2000.

The money will be used to help defray the cost of the concerts which the group will be presenting next fall and winter. This coming season is the second one for the group and follows on the heels of four very successful performances last winter.

The grant was announced earlier this month by the council.

They've waited long enough

It couldn't have come at a worse time. But, then again it just might be the thing needed to force the Ontario government to finally decide what policy it intends to follow.

We are referring to a letter which surfaced last month at the Haliburton County Council meeting. Like a ghost from the past, this letter, penned in 1950 by former Ontario Premier Leslie Frost, states in an unequivocal manner that the sale of the 66 foot shore allowance around Haliburton County and area lakes is a municipal matter. The letter states in part:

"...the provincial government really has nothing to do with this matter."

"...these road allowances do not belong to the province."

"No one can deal with this problem but the municipalities themselves."

Though dated over 30 years ago, there has been little indication the province has altered its stand in that time. Indeed, John Eakins, who now serves the same constituency Leslie Frost once did, in questioning the Minister of Housing, elicited the response that the procedure was complicated, expensive, time consuming and would be looked into by the authorities. The minister stated a review by the municipalities and the province, "...will give us an opportunity to try and streamline the plan so it does not incur the cost to the municipalities and the individuals."

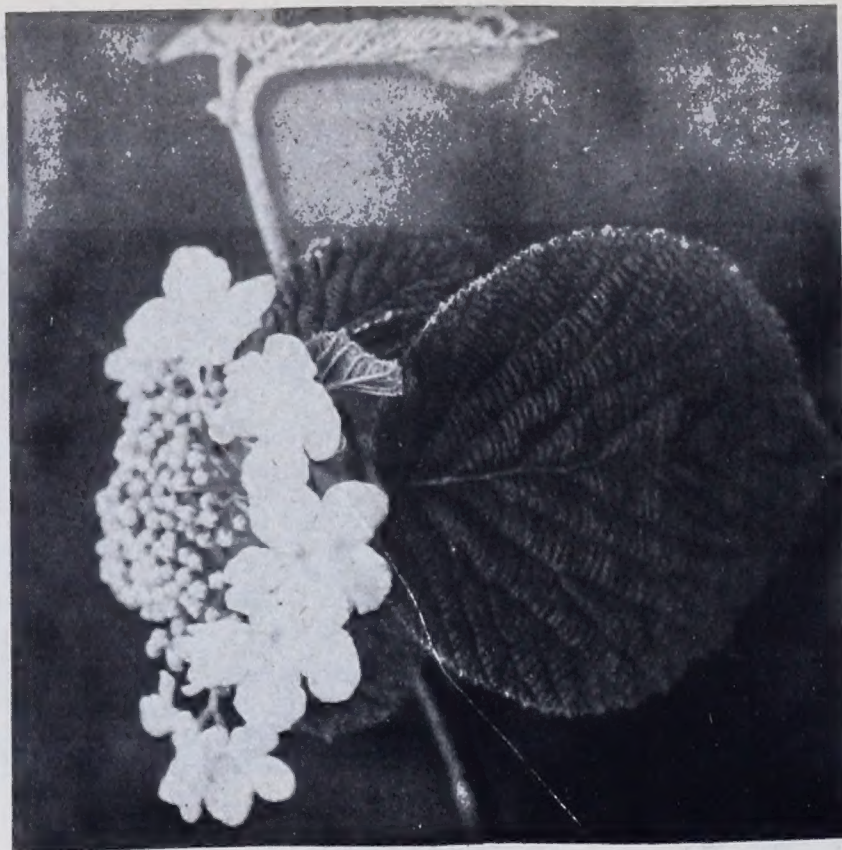

This comment muddies the waters which were just starting to clear. The Ministry of Housing just this spring issued a pamphlet entitled, 'Public Road Allowances on or Leading to Water' which outlined the procedure to be followed in purchasing the land. All parties did not agree with all aspects of the procedure, however, most were relieved that at least the government had finally stated its position on the matter.

The minister's response to questions by Eakins places the value of that pamphlet in question. It would appear from Bennett's response that the province is willing to change the rules of the game, or indeed, should not be laying down the rules for municipalities and property owners.

The situation is unsettling and leaves many lakefront property owners hanging. There are many who would like to proceed, and indeed, are willing to follow the guidelines as announced this spring. But these individuals could now be reluctant to go ahead if the province is about to "streamline" the procedure, making it less time consuming and less expensive.

These people deserve an answer. They are entitled to know if the province intends to stay with the former policy, draft new guidelines, or withdraw altogether in favour of the municipalities. Leaving the matter up in the air will only add confusion and result in further delays.

The lakefront property owners have waited long enough.

The future of Grade 13

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

You will recall that during the recent election campaign the discussion of issues never really took place. This was unfortunate. The question of education was never raised except when my leader made a personal comment on Grade 13.

Now, in the preliminary report of a study of the province's high school system, Duncan Green has recommended that all high school programs be squeezed into a four-year curriculum by 1988, thus putting an end to Grade 13.

Ontario is the only province in Canada which continues to have five years of high school, even though students from other provinces can enrol in Ontario's colleges and universities without having to take remedial courses. This report is one of a number of similar studies undertaken by the government since 1950; most of them have also recommended the phasing-out of Grade 13, because it is considered unnecessary.

During the recent provincial election campaign, Liberal Leader Stuart Smith also made a similar suggestion. So far, Education Minister Bette Stephenson has refused to indicate her reaction to the idea. She says she's waiting for the educational community to express their opinions.

It is my personal opinion that to deal with Grade 13 in isolation would be a mistake. I feel also that any consideration of change must ensure that teaching positions will not be lost. I would be pleased to receive comment from any of my constituents who would care to write to me.

Revelations on Re-Mor
Bimonthly Reports, a respected independent Toronto newsletter, has claimed in its most recent issue that the Ontario Securities Commission had "a record of consistent failure" in acting as a watchdog over the collapse of Astra Trust and Re-Mor Investments Ltd.

Hundreds of Ontarians - many of them senior citizens - lost their life savings when the two firms went bankrupt in 1980.

Even though the OSC began investigating Astra Re-Mor scandal, but the government has so far shown little interest and, in fact, has ensured that the Committee meetings will no longer continue - unbelievable.

OHIP rates

There is also speculation at Queen's Park that the government will raise OHIP rates for all subscribers in the provincial budget on May 19.

The Health Minister recently came to an agreement with the province's doctors, in which OHIP fees will go up by 14.75 per cent. As a result, the total bill for OHIP services will go up by about $175 million, and the government has to find a way to pay for it. Applying the costs directly to subscribers would mean about $20 extra per year per person. We will know on budget night May 19.

Change in Cabinet structure

Housing Minister Claude Bennett's ministry has been expanded to include municipal affairs. That announcement was made by Premier Davis in the Legislature last week. The municipal portfolio used to be handled by Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Tom Wells, but Premier Davis explained the change "reflects and strengthens our commitment to the municipal level of government." At least it will give municipal affairs a higher profile. It really should never have been changed in the first place.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

How far north does the bob-o-link nest? Or for a rare species like the eastern bluebird, how many nesting areas do we know about? In Ontario, most of these kinds of questions remain unanswered, for the massive amounts of data needed to assess bird distributions accurately have been missing. But a new project, just launched by FON and the Long Point Bird Observatory, should provide the answers.

The project is the Ontario Bird Breeding Atlas, and it is undoubtedly the largest-scale natural history project ever undertaken in this province. The idea is simple - organize volunteers to record their observations of nesting birds so that a bird-watching hobby can provide valuable scientific data at the same time. When thousands of individual records are compiled, a pattern showing the distribution of each species of bird begins to emerge.

Such atlases have been done in small countries such as Great Britain, but the large size of Ontario presents more of a challenge. The province is divided into a series of squares, based on a military grid, for which records will be kept. Even using much larger squares in the inaccessible areas of northern Ontario, a total of over 3000 such areas must be examined. The Atlas organizers have scheduled themselves five years for the task.

Why is such a massive effort important? For some species, this widespread data-gathering may be the only way to detect a subtle decline or

Letters

Editor:

It seems hypocritical that our municipal council, (with appropriate publication), is now so much concerned about the 22 cents mileage paid to out of town councillors. To me this represents a justifiable reimbursement for out-of-town expenses. In any case, the amount involved is insignificant.

Contrary to this, sneaking in a by-law (and getting caught!), to increase remuneration by 17 to 35% only after a few months of "employment" is, to say the least, deplorable.

However, to expect that the working poor of Minden, unemployed and some struggling businesses pay their and their families' OHIP fees for a voluntarily sought appointment is outright immoral.

I cannot help but feel that with the presence on council of Mr. Brandon, Mr. Nesbitt or Mr. Booth this matter would have at least been publicly discussed. God help us.

S. Weiss,
Minden.

Editor:

We would like to compliment Highland Travel Minden (Gell Travel Bureau, Lindsay), and especially Ms. Cindy McLean, the agent who looked after us.

Our holiday plans were involved in the recent Strand bankruptcy, which is quite upsetting to hear when your suitcases are packed and you're ready to go out the door on a much 'looked-forward-to' holiday.

Having all arrangements booked through Gell we were completely protected, but to have Cindy 'hang in' that Saturday and have us re-booked and away on schedule as planned, was very gratifying.

We appreciate this efficiency!

Editor's note: The following letter was sent to the Ontario Minister of Health, Dennis Timbrell and has been made public by the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee.

Dear Mr. Timbrell:

In accordance with the Public Health Act, I would like to be advised as soon as possible, if the local Board of Health has been fully instructed to ensure the safety of the health of the general public in the Bancroft area in connection with the proposed disposal of radio-active waste from Scarborough.

The waste is apparently to be disposed of in Faraday Township, near Bancroft.

Considering the gene-mutating, cancer-producing and life shortening effects of radiation, I would respectfully request that, if not already done, the Ministry should investigate the proposed conditions of dumping, and authorize any regulations needed to control any sources of ionizing radiation from such waste.

President of the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee, in conjunction with the Hastings Committee of Nuclear Responsibility,

From somewhere in the wilderness east of Washago, Ontario the Black River springs into existence and sluggishly worms its way south across the townships of Mara and Thorah, creeping silently over pastures and through woods across Brock township, skirting the hamlet of Blackwater like a huge black snake lying calm and still in its ebony bed. Then it seeps through swampland where each spring Secondary school teachers take their students on field trips to learn how pitcherplants grow, to study the conditions under which yellow and pink ladyslippers grow, coming into their full beauty in June and to hunt out the sheltered hidingplaces of fragile trailing arbutus. Along the banks of the Black River Elementary school teachers often take their young pupils to learn the difference between frogs'eggs and toads'eggs, also how a tadpole turns into a frog, not to mention how the pussy willows lining the shores turn into tall willow trees. They show the children that the dogwood's bark is not its bite. Here and there myriads of cowslips brighten their way like a galaxy of golden stars.

Soon the river gathers enough momentum to sashay around by Leaskdale where Lucy Maud

Montgomery wrote eighteen of her novels then it seems to take a quiet time before starting the run down to Uxbridge. Here it takes on various shapes and sizes from creek to pond to brook. On its way it waters clouds of fragrant anemones, scented spearmint and lush watercress before it gets up stream to turn the old grist mill wheel. It clatters and bickers to the suckers and leeches which delight to use it for a water bed from spring till fall.

Then it makes a sudden spurt to flow under the main street of Uxbridge through a viaduct of tiles after which it ripples over the stony bed of a creek for a short space until it reaches Wheeler's pond. The river doesn't loiter here because it is anxious to get on to Elgin Pond, the place where the action is. Here trout fishing starts early in May legally but earlier still sub rosa. I should say sub bridge where many a trout has been caught out of season.

Supervised swimming, boating and water skiing keep the pond stirred up all summer, a sort of gala time for the Black River to spread cheer to countless children before narrowing down to a creek where rainbow trout and purple mists float peacefully down to Brookdale on summer evenings. A short distance farther south the river thrashes its way through the little gorges at Glen Major but is soon lost and absorbed by other waterways flowing into Lake Ontario at Pickering.

The town fathers of Uxbridge built up the business section from east to west which necessitated the bridge in the lowest part of the main street. Stores and hotels line the street on each side. The shops adjacent to the viaduct are built on posts, leaving a space below free for storing things or for children to play or snare suckers or net tadpoles or build a fire or get into whatever mischief their fertile minds can invent. Usually the storekeepers above the gully keep a close eye on these little children to see what goes on during the day. At night it is a different kettle of fish.

One of these little shops over the river's edge was a small confectionary store owned by two spinsters, Misses Lydia and Annie Walker. They had operated their shop solely as a confectionary store for quite a number of years. Then one day they decided to build on a large room at the rear to be used as an ice cream parlour.

Those two spinsters decided to go all out, well at least, thirty feet out at the back and twenty feet wide turning that area into an attractive ice cream parlour with windows across the entire end to give them lots of light and a pleasant view. Of course it had to be built on high posts, leaving the area below a shelter like the other places by the river.

The two ladies did their best to attract business by putting up dainty curtains on the gleaming windows and by keeping the room fresh smelling and spotlessly clean. Each morning one or the other of the sisters took on the job of airing out the room and dusting it carefully then putting a few fresh wild flowers in the table vases.

One morning as Lydia was about to shake a duster out a window she heard voices below. She listened for a moment to see if anyone was getting into mischief down there.

She listened again and heard children talking quietly but could not make out what they were saying.

After a short silence the voices started again so she raised the end window quietly and saw two five year old boys from her neighborhood, Blake Nix and Alvin Barbour. They couldn't have seen her for they carried on with their conversation.

Blake said to Alvin, "Let's do something awful."

"Alright. What'll we do?" Alvin agreeably replied.

Blake looked around carefully then lowered his voice and said, "Let's swear."

"Alright, you start," Alvin suggested quietly.

Again Blake looked around cautiously then said clearly, "God damn it!"

Alvin seconded the motion by saying, "So der I!"

"Oh no you don't", Lydia intoned from the window above in a voice as deep as she could muster. She quickly slipped out of sight behind one of the lace curtains as the two youngsters sat stark still for a moment, then scrambled out from under the building.

Lydia smiled as she watched the two high-tail it down the street throwing furtive glances over their shoulders.

The youngsters grew into young men and no doubt their vocabulary became spiced, from time to time, with those words, but it is highly unlikely they ever forgot the first time they used that phrase.

Pair charged

Two Haliburton men, aged 17 and 18, have been charged with the theft of $3,000 worth of tools after an incident last Monday.

Stuart Allen Burley and Martin Donald Robichaud were charged after Douglas P. Gratton of Haliburton reported his aircraft repair tools missing from his van parked at Stanhope Airport.

The investigating officer was Constable Al Bibby.

Anglers catch more than fish

Anglers who attempted to rush the pickerel season this year caught more than fish, as they discovered last Thursday.

That is when the early fishermen found out that their attempts to beat the Ministry of Natural Resources opening of the seasons would cost them.

Fines, assessed under the Canadian Fisheries Act and the Ontario Fisheries Regulations, varied from $100 to $28 in Provincial Court.

Gary Bradamore of Coboconk was fined $100 for attempting to fish with a snare and a second hundred for taking fish during the closed season.

Fined $100 for attempting to take fish by means of a spear was Kenneth Francis of Norland while Raymond Norman, also of Norland, was fined $200 for the same offense. Francis also received a $100 fine for fishing out of season.

Barney Traviss of Gooderham was assessed a $28 fine for angling with too many lines, while Gerald McKinnell of Harnon, Ontario, was given a similar fine. A $28 fine was assessed to Lola Rossmurn of Waterloo and Daisy Gibson, also of Waterloo, for unlawfully fishing with a set line.

The charges were all laid by Conservation Officers from the Minden District office of the Ministry of Natural Resources. The charges stemmed from increased enforcement carried out during the pickerel spawning run.

councillor Johnston to look into the matter and hire somebody as soon as possible.

Swim program needs instructors

Stanhope Township's summer swim program is in need of instructors.

The matter was discussed at the May 6 meeting of council. Township clerk, Gerald Bain, read the minutes of the recreation committee noting that last year's instructor for August, Peggy Johnston, may not be available for the coming season.

He said she has tentatively accepted a job outside the township but was interested in a job for August.

Reeve Jim Harrison said he had received favourable comments on last year's program and was disappointed that Johnston couldn't have been hired again.

Councillor Eldon Johnston said the suggestion had been made at the recreation meeting to contact two local camp directors who could refer people who had applied for swim instructors at the camp. The instructors would be hired for July and August.

Harrison asked Bain and Bad luck plagues driver

A Toronto man had nothing but bad luck this weekend.

Philip John Harich, 29, was driving on Highway 121, west of Haliburton on Saturday about 8 p.m. when he missed a curve, went into a ditch and struck a culvert. His 1980 car was completely destroyed. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

He was taken to Haliburton Hospital with minor injuries.

After he was released, he was arrested and charged with impaired driving and failing to provide a breath sample.

His bad luck continued when he went to check his car at Curry Motors Body Shop and discovered his tape player, speakers and tapes, worth $1,000 had been stolen.

Investigation was by Constable Bryan Bowers.

The Haliburton Branch of the Ontario Public School Mens Teachers' Federation has presented Tom Miscio with a variable speed cassette player. The student, who is partially sighted, will be able to use the machine for listening to books and texts which have been pre-recorded. The cassette player allows Tom to increase the speed of the tape, which causes some distortion but not enough to make the reading unintelligible. By increasing the speed, the listener can "read" at a faster pace. Tom received a large print typewriter from the same organization last year. Mackay Brydon, a teacher at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, made the presentation on behalf of the organization.

In the long run, the atlas information will be valuable in selecting key areas for parks or sanctuaries, either to protect threatened species or to preserve habitats with an exceptional diversity of bird life.

Stocking program boosts fish population in area lakes

Several Haliburton area lakes have a few thousand more fish now thanks to the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Early last Saturday morning, helicopter crews were out stocking the lakes with rainbow, brook and lake trout.

It's an annual program that begins as soon as the ice is out, this year it started in early April.

Lakes are being stocked with more fish this year, says Wayne Wilson, who, along with Steve Bowcott, Peter Lattner and Barry Walker supervised the activities.

More than 60 lakes will be stocked by the second week of May, says Wilson.

Dumping the fish is done two ways, by helicopter and by truck. Here's how the breakdown of distribution looks:

- brook trout - 32,500 by helicopter - 4,000 by truck
- lake trout - 11,500 by helicopter - 70,000 by truck
- rainbow trout - 10,000 by helicopter - 24,000 by truck

For fishing enthusiasts, the brook and lake trout weigh up to 20-30 pounds at maturity and the rainbow around three pounds, estimated Wilson.

There are several reasons for stocking a lake, explains Wilson. First, for recreation, second, because the natural habitat is not right for rainbow and brook trout self-reproduction and third, to have stocked fish reproduce.

Rainbow and brook trout are stocked in what is called a "put and take" procedure. This means fish are put in and fishermen catch them. This is done every two or three years."

Wilson says approximately 50% of the stocked fish on Boshkung and Kushog Lakes are caught.

But sometimes that can be a problem because, as Wilson explains, they want the stocked fish to reproduce and if these are the fish that are caught, only the "native" fish are left.

However, in the case of lake trout, the idea is to stock lakes to protect the native population and provide recreation for fishermen by encouraging them to catch the stocked fish.

In order to stock the lakes, there must be a demand, says Wilson. This also means a certain number of the stocked fish must be caught.

Water quality is another important factor when lakes are stocked, says Wilson. The fish should be able to adapt to the water if it is fairly free of pollutants.

The natural habitat of the lakes in this area is not suitable for the rainbow and brook trout and Wilson says it is more economical to stock those fish.

The Ontario government is planning to start a fisheries management plan, a detailed study of the habits of fish in the lakes. The purpose would be to see, for example, if lake trout will reproduce therefore reducing the amount of stocking that would be required.

Wilson cautions fishermen that fish put in this spring will be too small for summer fishing. He advises people who want to know about this year's prospects to write for the 1980 guide published by the ministry office. A 1981 list of the lakes stocked should be ready in a month's time.

Fatherless boys find a friend in Big Brothers

Don is a very important man in town. He is the doctor. His job demands long hours and difficult decision-making almost constantly. He must be on call at all times which sometimes interrupts time spent with family and friends.

But even though Don feels there aren't enough hours in the day to do all the things he wants, he still finds a few hours each week to spend with Jeff.

Don is a big brother. Jeff is 10 and after his father died suddenly several years ago, his mother was left to raise Jeff and his younger sister.

Don became a big brother after a friend told him how he got involved and how much fun he and his little brother had whenever they were together.

Don didn't have a son but he thought about how important a father is in a boy's life and how well he and his father got along when Don was young.

The Big Brothers started in Toronto in 1913 and Big Brothers of Canada was chartered in 1964.

But, the concept of Big Brothers goes back even further.

In 1903, a Cincinnati businessman, Irvin Westheimer saw a young boy foraging for food in an alley. After befriending the boy, Westheimer discovered the boy had no father.

Westheimer talked to some of his friends and business associates hoping something could be done for this and possibly other fatherless boys. The first unofficial Big Brothers was formed.

A year later in New York City, a man named Ernest

Coulter was reviewing some of the records of that city's children's court.

He noticed many of the children came from fatherless homes. Coulter organized a meeting and about 40 people listened as he related his findings.

In 1909, a group joined Coulter in incorporating the first Big Brothers of New York City.

Big Brothers came to Haliburton County in a similar way.

Al Oakley teaches at Haliburton High School and he is president of the Haliburton chapter. The group has been incorporated since September.

Oakley says he sensed the need for an organization in the area.

"We did a survey and found 70 boys without male influence whether through death or divorce. There was no distinction made though, it was just the lack of a male influence."

So far, three boys have been matched with a big brother but four are on the waiting list.

The problem seems to be the reticence of volunteers to take a little brother.

Last week, Big Brothers held information meetings in Minden and Haliburton but Oakley says turnouts at both places were poor.

"We just have to stay with it and keep plugging," he says.

Dr. Blair Pierce was at the Haliburton meeting and said, "Some people in the community are just not ready to take on something like this, we have a lot of older people here too who maybe feel they don't want to get involved."

There is a need

But the figures from the survey indicate the need is there and Oakley says they are ready to take more people.

Big Brothers serves boys from six to sixteen but the age of the big brother is limitless.

However, a volunteer must be over 18. Married as well as single men are welcome. Reports indicate big brothers become more skillful parents.

Oakley says there are as many reasons for being a big brother as there are volunteers but the interest in the boy is the key.

A film demonstrating the work of Big Brothers was shown. It brought messages that it gives one a chance to be a kid again and to remember the fun and that there's no such thing as a failure when you're a big brother.

Becoming a big brother is not difficult and takes only the time a person is willing to give. Usually three to four hours a week with a little brother is adequate.

After all, as one big brother put it, "He has his own friends, you don't want to restrict his other activities."

Many of the little brothers are referred by their mothers either because of problems coping at home or at school and need some guidance.

An example will illustrate just how the process works.

Elizabeth is worried that she can't talk to her 11-year-old son, Danny, about his problems. He's getting to the age that he needs a man in his life.

Big Brothers may be the answer. Danny has to go for an interview. A professional staff member talks to Danny about his interests and motivations as well as his needs and concerns.

Elizabeth is brought in to discuss Danny's behaviour and personality characteristics.

In the meantime, Ray, a 40-year-old teacher is being interviewed as a prospective big brother. Basically, he is becoming familiar with the responsibilities of a big brother while the staff worker observes Ray's strengths and interests which will allow him to be matched with a little brother.

It turns out Ray would be ideal for Danny. A meeting is arranged by the agency as are all first meetings between big and little brothers.

Danny is told about Ray while Ray is told about his little brother.

The process of matching may take quite a while or it may take only a short time depending on availability of volunteers and suitability of the match.

Even then there may be problems. If, for example, Ray and Danny don't get along for any reason, a talk with the social worker is arranged to see if the difficulty can be worked out.

Usually, a big brother will spend a year with his little brother. After that, says Oakley, "Hopefully the relationship will continue. You hope to have achieved positive things with the boy in terms of learning and experiencing."

The relationship is the important thing as far as Big Brothers is concerned and if a big brother is not able to see his little brother one week, he should notify the social worker immediately so that the situation can be explained to the boy. If possible, other arrangements could be made, such as another big brother being assigned. It is also important not to disrupt the routine and damage the relationship.

One big brother said, "If one week goes by, it's not too serious but I don't let many weeks pass. You do have a responsibility."

Regular meetings with the social worker are essential to check progress and to air any problems.

In Haliburton, there is a committee of 11 men and women which is responsible for selecting the big brothers, says Oakley.

The popularity of Big Brothers in Canada is evident when one considers that in June 1967, there were 13 agencies. By 1976, the number had grown to 105.

Oakley says, "We thought if we could service 10 boys in the first year, we'd be doing well. We've reached half that number."

Irvin Westheimer and Ernest Coulter would be proud and pleased they had the foresight to initiate the Big Brothers organization.

HHSS athletes champs at Kawartha West meet

Once again the athletes from Haliburton Highlands High School have dominated the track and field competition in this immediate area. For the ninth straight year HHSS has captured top honours in the Kawartha West competition held last week in Haliburton.

Not only did the local athletes dominate, they did so in very convincing style, winning the four school competition with the widest margin ever.

Over 70 students from HHSS have now qualified for the Kawartha meet scheduled for today (May 13) at Trent University.

In addition to the team honours, a number of students turned in outstanding performances, obliterating Kawartha West records.

Among the record breakers were Marla MacNaull who ran the 400 meters in 1:04.0; Signe Tashlin who ran the 80 meter hurdles in 13.5; Margie Newton, competing in the senior girls high jump, leapt 1m 56; and Scott Mitchell in pole vault, midget boys, with a jump of 2m 60.

The HHSS team amassed 1223 points in the competition with Lindsay Collegiate second at 586 points; Fenelon Falls third at 577 points; and I.E. Weldon Collegiate of Lindsay fourth at 231 points.

The following list indicates the placing of HHSS students in various competitions:

Midget girls
400 meters: Karen Gillespie, second.
800 meters: Sandi Walker, second.

3000 meters: Kathy Walsh, second; Helen Maip.

80 meters: Karen Gillespie, second; Werna Blakey, third.

400 metre hurdles: Louise Newton, second; Sandi Walker, third.

Spring planting

Close to 60 members of the Minden and District Horticultural Society were on hand May 5 for the organization's monthly meeting.

The gathering featured an address by Pat Campbell of Campbell's Garden Centre on preparing for planting. The audience also viewed a film on spring planting.

One of the new aspects of the organization this year is the inclusion of junior members. These youngsters have been encouraged to take part in the organization's activities, such as tending the various flower beds in the community. The junior members will also be encouraged to start their own garden plots, growing flowers or vegetables with the senior members of the organization offering advice and assistance. The junior members of the organization were given seeds and bulbs by Pat Campbell to get them started on their own garden.

Following the formal portion of the meeting, the members enjoyed a social hour with coffee and refreshments.

GENERAL NOTES:

(1) The 1980 Financial Report consolidates the operations, assets and liabilities of the Townships and the following two municipal enterprises: The Minden Waterworks System and The Minden Sewage System.

(2) Municipal enterprises are those activities whose costs are substantially recovered from service charges on users. The only municipal enterprise of the Townships whose revenues and expenditures have been excluded from the financial information highlighted above is the Minden Cemetery. Copies of the audited financial statements for this enterprise can be obtained from the Township's Treasurer.

(3) The financial highlights presented have been basically extracted from the audited 1980 Financial Report of the Townships and its municipal enterprises as described in Note 1. The terminology contained in the Financial Report has been modified and expanded in order that you might appreciate more fully the nature of our operations.

(4) Copies of the 1980 audited Financial Report and the report of our auditors, MacGillivray & Co., are available from the Townships' Treasurer for any resident who wishes to review or analyze the financial operations of the Township in greater detail.

Snowdon notes

The Snowdon Supporters met April 15, 1981. Among the topics discussed were the outcome of our Easter dance held on April 11 at Gelert Gardens. There was only one ticket not sold, and everyone in attendance had a good time. The proceeds realized from this dance were very close to the sum realized at the Valentine dance.

The other major topic of discussion was our up-coming auction, flea market and craft sale. The time and place for this event has been confirmed. It will be held on Saturday, June 27, at the Lochlin Community Park. Proceeds from this activity will go toward our Snowdon Community Park project.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

The week's activities began on Monday morning with a lively session of Fun & Fitness. We welcomed a new resident, Mary Langdon to our group. We exercised to music and had a fun game of darts and kick the ball. Fun & Fitness is a regular activity which is held four times a week. The ladies went to the craftroom later to work on their projects. The ladies are putting together some lovely bazaar items.

In the evening several residents made their way to the auditorium to watch the movies. "Ukaliq" was narrated by an Eskimo who told us of his life as a child. He told us about the Eskimo ways of life and how they are a healthy and strong race of people. They live mainly on meat and use seal skins for clothing.

"Island" was filmed in Newfoundland. We were taken on a tour of this beautiful island. Both films were informative and very enjoyable.

Tuesday morning Reverend George Elliott of Minden Anglican Church held service in the Chapel. We enjoyed his message and it was nice to have Agnes Taylor play the organ for the singing of hymns.

The Bingo lovers turned out in full force in the main lounge later on for a game. I understand there were quite a few lucky winners.

Wednesday evening Games Night was a great success as usual. Our assistants from the Haliburton High School were here to help and join in games of euchre, cribbage and crokinole.

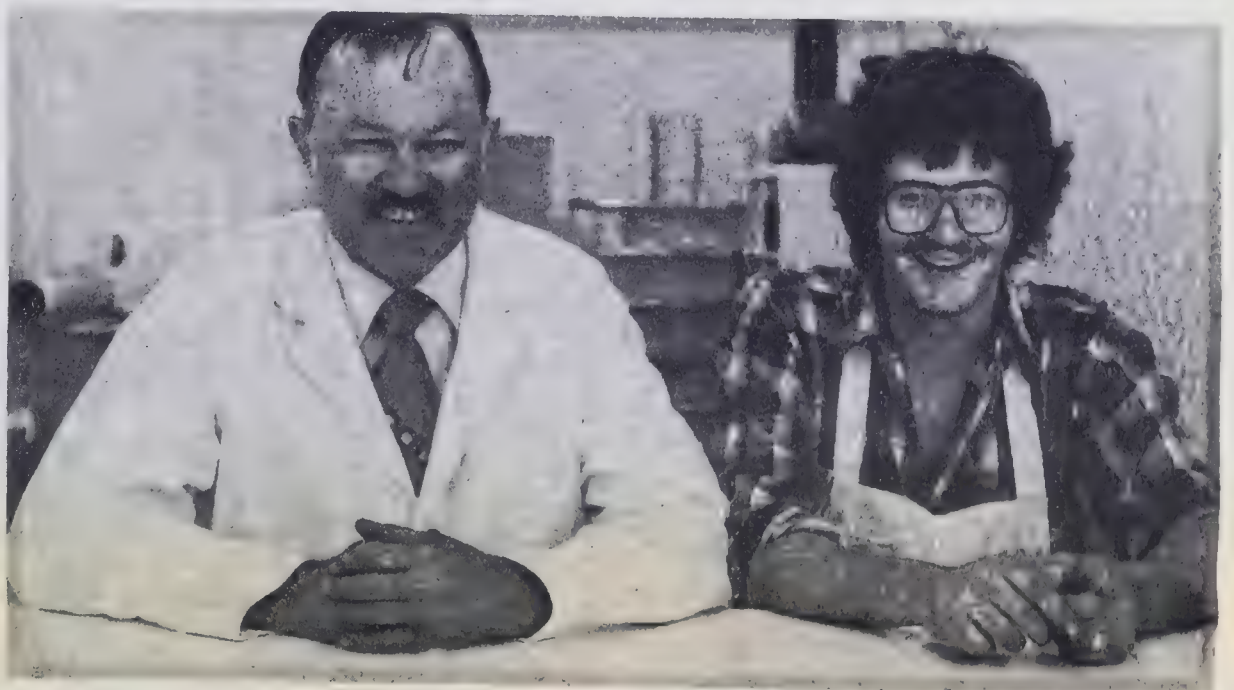

Thursday afternoon the ladies of Tory Hill U.C.W. brought a delicious assortment of tea breads and cheese for the weekly tea party. Our thanks to these ladies for a very enjoyable afternoon.

Friday afternoon, we loaded the bus and headed for Kennis Lake. We visited the former Hay & Co. Mill. We learned the history of the mill and some stories from our residents about when it was in full operation. The journey brought back many fond memories and was much enjoyed by all.

We stopped on the way home at Kawartha Dairy and treated ourselves to a delicious ice cream cone. Special thanks to Florence Robb and Wanda and Ira Carter for volunteering their help on the bus.

Students from Queen Elizabeth Vocational Institute joined musical students of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School a musical concert May 5. The hall was filled as the two musical groups combined their talents under the baton of conductor Bob Campbell. The May concert is an annual event at HHSS.

A new business with familiar faces behind the counter opened Thursday as Coneybear's Butcher Shop greeted new and old customers alike. The shop, located on Minden's Main Street, will feature a wide selection of meats, cheeses, specialty items and seafood. The smiling faces are those of Al and Chris Coneybear.

Home Support Services news

The April meeting of the Haliburton County Home Support Services began with a pot-luck luncheon at the home of Doris McCann, then continued through the afternoon with that view of lovely Kennis Lake.

Plans were made for the "Experience/81" student who will be completing a filing and referral system at the office in Haliburton this summer. It is to be a complete system which would cover all needs and requirements for all ages, not just for seniors. The goal is to have information at the telephone so anyone with a problem, or a question about health, recreation etc. could call the office and whoever is in the office could quickly locate the agency or person who would know the answers and pass that information to the caller. A duplication of this system could be placed in other offices or departments.

The Minden Carnarvon Senior Citizens Services is holding a "volunteer rally" at PineStone Inn on May 12. There will be discussion periods on the why and how of Meals on Wheels as well as a film and sing-song.

The next seniors' dinner at Sunny Rock Lodge will be on May 11 when some construction work will be completed. In the interval, the weekly Wheels to Meals dinners are being prepared by the U.C.W. group at the Lochlin United Church - many thanks to all the members of this group!

Gloria Lemieux will be convening the Wheels to Meals program for Minden along with Isabel Harrison for Lutterworth. Please call them to make a reservation for you at Gelert Gardens - coming up soon!

There are still plans in the making for movies at the local theatres for seniors on Friday or Monday afternoons.

On Tuesday, June 2, the Home Support Services will celebrate their first anniversary. This celebration will be held at the Haliburton High School at 1:45 p.m. and 100 students of the "Family Studies" course will join in.

Dr. Joy Ballard will be the guest speaker. This gathering will not only celebrate this anniversary, but will also celebrate Senior Citizens Week, will remind us of the year of the disabled (our speaker is disabled with M.S.) and will also correlate the interests of the young and old.

Tickets will be available for 12 noon dinners or 4:30 dinner at Locarno-on-the-Lake and PineStone Inn - both serving the same menu at 12 noon and 4:30. Tickets are available for all seniors in the County either from the office 457-2941 or your local senior citizens' club at a reasonable cost.

The High School auditorium will hold several hundred and 400 dinner reservations can be made. Let's make it a great day.

On the program also - School band and Guild Choral Society and Marilyn Stouffer leading a sing-song. Come and help celebrate your week!

When phoning the Home Support Services office, make your call between 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. The office hours are being shortened because our budget proposal was not realized by the Ministry of Community and Social Services and Haliburton County Council. Our future plans for programs have been somewhat curtailed.

The next meeting will be held May 15 at 1:00 p.m. in the Carnarvon United Church Hall. It is a good opportunity to see what is going on and perhaps add your name to the list of volunteers. Many of the seniors who receive help are men, and for this reason, men volunteers are very welcome.

Bringing pleasure and comfort to older people who are confined is a very satisfactory way of enjoying one's own good health!

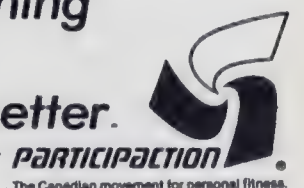

Institute meeting

"Understanding and Caring" was the theme of the Semi-Annual meeting of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario when they met in Toronto last month. The Provincial President Mrs. Janet Hiepleh of Springfield, led the women as they discussed the "Year of the Disabled" and the other projects of this organization. She told of the student from Zambia and one from India that are attending Ware College of England in the "Child Care Course" as a result of the donation of $4,000 from F.W.I.O. These students will return to their native countries to teach others.

"You are a vibrant, active and valuable voluntary group", said Miss Molly McGhee, the Director of the Home Economics Branch of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food. She was reporting on the 1400 volunteer leaders from the W.I. who made it possible for 63,000 persons to benefit from the adult courses. Not to be forgotten were the leaders for the 24,000 members of the 4H clubs who had taken the projects.

The W.I., always ready with scholarships, presented 15 to students entering the Family and Consumers Studies at Guelph University as well as others throughout the Province.

The difference between you and a person who's fit is that anything you can do he can do better.

UCW Region 4 meeting

The theme for Region 4 Rally of the United Church Women was "Love, Share, and Care". Members were present from Baddow, Burnt River, Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Kinmount, Norland, Powles Corners and Victoria Road, and they met on May 6 in Fenelon Falls United Church.

The acting Chairlady was Mrs. Merle Hopkins in the absence of Mrs. Joyce Brown of Kinmount. Following the opening call to worship and hymn, Fenelon Falls UCW extended a gracious welcome. Devotions were led by Baddow UCW. They opened with a poem "Let us trust in God" followed by prayer and a hymn. Scripture Matthew 12:31-46 was read followed by a meditation in keeping with the theme.

They said "that part of the 'doing' of the Gospel is sharing our lives with other people. God shared Himself in the person of Jesus Christ. We should share with other people, particularly those in need. The most important thing to Him is our loving, our sharing and our caring. Dare to be aware and share God's spirit in our world today."

Kinmount extended an invitation for the Rally in 1982. Offering was received and dedicated by Kinmount and Burnt River UCW's. Roll call was answered by each UCW giving a highlight of the past year and a coming event for 1981, and this included Christmas meeting with community invited, annual Strawberry supper, Walk-a-thon, annual church services, Thankoffering luncheon, meeting on life in Japan, opportunity shop with funds going to buy a new piano and church renovations.

Stan McDougall explained the budget and cut-backs; Mary Packard spoke on Summer programmes; Carol Madill had some good suggestions on Overdue Books; Arlene Robinson told of information needed on requests for inter-library loans. This was followed by a discussion and some problems were solved. There will be more effort made by Branch Librarians to recover overdue books, there are too many not being returned. This was followed by lunch and tea or coffee with all having a social time.

Council backs Chamber

The Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce got a vote of confidence from Stanhope Township Council.

Bob Stinson was on hand to discuss the role of the chamber within the county with council at the May 6 meeting.

Stinson had sent a letter to each municipality's representatives asking for their support and was encouraged by Stanhope's interest. Many of the others, he said, have not replied.

He said he was pleased Stanhope showed interest in Chamber activities saying, "better communication among the municipalities is our main objective." Some of the smaller or "outside the core" areas may feel the Chamber is being run from the main centres like Minden and Dysart, he said.

But, he said, the Chamber should serve the whole county. "I don't think of boundaries, it's a County operation." As an example, Stinson cited the recent Chamber "Roast" that attracted representatives from only four municipalities. He said, "it's disappointing more areas are not taking advantage of our activities."

OPP sponsor benefit dance

A benefit dance, sponsored by Minden OPP, will be held May 15 at the Community Centre. Proceeds will go in aid of the Krista Verdecchia education fund.

Krista is the infant daughter of Constable Rick Verdecchia who was murdered in Huntsville earlier this year.

The dance will run from 8-11 a.m. and will feature a buffet, refreshments and the awarding of several prizes graciously donated by area business people.

Admission is $12 per couple and tickets may be obtained from any Minden OPP officer or at the door.

Grant received

Stanhope Township will receive a $40,000 grant under the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

A letter from Housing Minister, Claude Bennett was read at the May 6 meeting of council confirming the grant.

Under the program, Stanhope had been eligible for a grant of up to $56,000 for the 1981-82 fiscal year.
